It's the Public's Fault
What Is Education?
New Game—Soak the Rich
Anti-Crime Leader

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

SAN SIMEON, Calif., April 13—[illegible] learns from Mr. Whitney of New York's Stock exchange that the poor, innocent [illegible] have nothing to do with our [illegible]

The public itself is responsible. [illegible] not have gambled so [illegible] That recalls the saloon [illegible] remark pointing to the drunkard: "He drank it, I [illegible] Why blame me?"

Mr. Whitney says also that Mr. [illegible] is to blame, for talking [illegible] about prosperity, thus [illegible] up the great bull market. And Mr. Hoover was to [illegible] promising, in his campaign, that poverty was about to be abolished forever.

President Hoover said nothing [illegible] kind. He said that poverty [illegible] abolished. So it could, if [illegible] men had brains enough to [illegible] its plenty for all, and [illegible] that rob the people of their [illegible] with worthless stock issues were jailed for life, instead of [illegible] merely questioned.

WHAT IS EDUCATION?

[illegible] baseball season begins, and [illegible] million Americans can tell you [illegible] the Browns, White Sox, In[illegible] Cardinals, Yankees, Giants" [illegible] "Lefty" Grove, Wesley Ferrell, [illegible] Gomez, "Long George Kel[illegible] [illegible] Grimes and all the [illegible]

[illegible] incredible as it may sound [illegible] "[illegible]ters for the Cubs," any one [illegible] last-named 12 will outlive in [illegible] memories all the baseball [illegible] and clubs.

INSURGENT DEMOCRATS and "progressive" Republicans plan, it [illegible], to "soak the rich, jack up taxes on the wealthy, increase surtaxes, estate and gift taxes, levy [illegible] the traffic will bear on luxury commodities."

"Soaking the rich" may not prove to be harmless sport, for, strange as it may seem, a nation's prosperity calls for individuals of intelligence and energy.

Henry Ford, the Du Ponts, some General Motors and Steel men are rich. Also, they have paid in wages one thousand dollars and more for every dollar they own.

Well-meaning radicals should make sure that they can continue paying the wages before they "soak the rich" out of existence.

A religious order once established itself in Central America and arranged to "soak the poor" natives, by making them work steadily, no play, only salvation hereafter, guaranteed. The Indians did not like it and stopped having children. There were no more Indians to "soak" and the whole scheme was a failure.

If earnest radicals soak the rich until the later cease producing pay-rolls, there may be real trouble.

COLONEL LINDBERGH swindled out of fifty thousand dollars by kidnapers, or perhaps by sharpers that successfully posed as the kidnapers, waited near a graveyard while, in the cemetery, an old man paid the money. The child was to be delivered on board a certain yacht, Colonel Lindbergh, who flew to the appointed place, and found no yacht and no child, has said, "I will not pay another penny in ransom until the child has been placed in my arms."

When the present search is ended, it is predicted by his friends that Colonel Lindbergh will become leader of a movement to [illegible] the present highly organized crime menace.

Whether his child can be found, as all hope it will be, or not, Colonel Lindbergh should make an [illegible] leader in an anti-crime movement.

GAINS SCORED BY ROOSEVELT AND HOOVER

Both Strengthened in Primary and Convention Votes Yesterday.

DELEGATE LISTS GROW

Hoover Gets Solid Missouri Group; Roosevelt Winner in Nebraska.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 13—The mantles of popular favor for the presidential nominations of the Republican and Democratic parties apparently rested more snugly today on President Hoover and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Illinois surveyed the outcome of yesterday's primary elections and found the indicated trend definitely favoring the nation's Chief Executive and New York's governor.

And from three other states, two in the South and one in the West, came these expressions of political convention favor:

Kentucky pledged its entire Democratic delegation of 26 to Gov. Roosevelt.

Missouri for Hoover

Missouri's slate of 41 Republican delegates was instructed by the G. O. P. meeting for President Hoover.

And to the President went 13 of Florida's Republican delegates with four more remaining to be chosen. Nine of the 13 were instructed for him by the state convention and the remaining four by district meetings.

Gov. Roosevelt set the pace in the Democratic preference vote in Nebraska and widened the margin he set early over Speaker John N. Garner of Texas and Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma.

It was the first test of strength for the three in any one primary and tabulations from 867 precincts of the state's 2,049 gave Roosevelt 38,211; Garner 11,179, and Murray 10,483.

Only the name of former Senator Joseph I France of Maryland appeared on the Republican preference ballots in Nebraska but the voters wrote President Hoover's name in and he polled 3,380 votes against 13,487 for France, in 712 precincts.

Hoover Delegates Lead

Although the gubernatorial race overshadowed national issues in the Illinois primary, convention delegates favoring President Hoover for renomination were well in the van in nine districts and those militantly opposed to him and to prohibition led in only two.

Senator James Hamilton Lewis, the state's favorite son, was unopposed in the Democratic preference vote and in returns from 1,320 precincts out of 7,229 polled 135,870 votes.

Former Senator France was also the only candidate seeking the Illinois Republican expression of preference. He received 20,900 votes from 593 precincts.

Len Small Holding Lead in Illinois

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 13—Benefitting by a four-way split in the opposition, Len Small, veteran campaigner, apparently won the contest for the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois.

Returns from more than half of the precincts of the state in yesterday's primary gave him a margin of more than 50,000 over his nearest opponent, Omer N. Custer.

Attorney General Oscar C. Carlstrom was a strong third. William H. Malone and Edward J. Brundage ran fourth and fifth respectively. The vote for 4,405 of the E,229 precincts in the state gave: Carlstrom, 153,252; Custer 204,790; Small 258,148.

William Hale Thompson, the Small chief of staff, is an avowed opponent of President Hoover and it was regarded in some quarters as probably that the Small organization may attempt to name the 11 delegates-at-large to the national convention.

In the Democratic gubernatorial contest Probate Judge Henry Horner backed by Mayor Anton Cermak, apparently won over Michael Igoe and Bruce Campbell. In returns from 4,405 precincts, he had a margin of 121,000 votes over Igoe and topped Campbell by more than 200,000.

The Cermak-Horner slate apparently will be in complete control of the forthcoming Democratic state convention. The delegates-at-large to be selected, however, are already pledged to Senator James Hamilton Lewis and no second choice has been indicated.

Roosevelt Leading.

LINCOLN, Nebr., April 13—Returns from 1,323 of 2,049 precincts in Nebraska for Democratic presidential preference gave Roosevelt 60,835, Garner 18,203, Murray 15,999. Returns from 1,113 precincts Republican presidential preference gave France 23,123. Hoover 5,783.

GRAF COMPLETES DIFFICULT VOYAGE

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, April 13—The Graf Zeppelin, German dirigible, landed here today at 8 a. m., ending her second trip of the year to Pernambuco, Brazil. The Graf encountered a snow storm in the home port which made her landing difficult. The crossing from Pernambuco was slower than usual, taking 101 hours, on account of heavy fogs.

LEAD IN VOTE

LEN SMALL

HENRY HORNER

Returns from the Illinois primary election, held yesterday, indicate that Len Small, former governor, staged a comeback by winning the Republican nomination for the same office and that the Democratic gubernatorial nomination went to Judge Henry Horner of Chicago, who was backed by Mayor Anton Cermak

LEGION FAVORS CASH PAYMENT IN BONUS VOTE

Bird-McGinnis Post Ballots 55 to 15 in Favor of Full Settlement.

HIT POSTAL WAGE CUT

Local Vets Prepare for Annual Mobilization Call Monday Night.

By a vote of 55 to 15 members of Bird-McGinnis Post No 162, American Legion, last night went on record as favoring the immediate cash payment of the soldier bonus. The question was voted on by the members without discussion, Commander J. W. Llewellyn said this morning.

The vote was taken upon recommendation of the national department in an effort to learn the sentiment of the posts throughout the country, on the payment by the federal government of the bonus at this time. The immediate payment was turned down at the national convention held in Detroit last September. Under the immediate payment plan veterans would be paid a cash bonus. Those, however, who took advantage of the offer of the government in 1930 to borrow on the bonus, would have the amount of their loan deducted from the total amount.

The Legion also passed a resolution opposing the reduction of the wages of postal employes as provided for in the appropriation bill to be presented to congress for passage shortly. The bill provides for a reduction of 11 per cent. in the wages and the post gave as the reasons for opposing the reduction, the belief that the postal clerks earned their wages, that any decrease would mean a reduction in their buying power and would help to that extent in continuing the depression.

Vets To Mobilize

Commander Llewellyn also announced a worldwide mobilization of the American Legion next Monday night. Orders for the mobilization of the local post, have been received from Paul M. Herbert, department commander of Ohio. The Legion members will assemble at the dugout on High street on call about 7:15 p. m. At the same time

JURY MAY GET SUIT AGAINST CITY TODAY

Rebuttal Testimony Offered; West Mansfield Woman Seeks $56,720.

Trial of the case of Clara Belle Bailey of West Mansfield against the city of Marion for $56,720 damages continued in common pleas court this morning. The trial began yesterday.

Fifteen witnesses were examined yesterday, eight for the plaintiff and seven for the city. Both sides rested late in the afternoon. Attorneys for the plaintiff this morning began a relief rebuttal examination of witnesses.

The case was expected to go to the jury early this afternoon after arguments of both sides had been heard.

Mrs. Bailey contends that she suffered permanent injuries when she stumbled and fell at an uneven place in the sidewalk along Olney avenue. The city has contended that the uneveness was not sufficient to create a hazard, and that it is not liable for damages.

Carter W. Schwemer and Roy W. Roof of Kenton and the law firm of Clark & Arter of Marion represent Mrs. Bailey. Carter M. Patton, city solicitor, and John Weidemann, assistant solicitor, are defending the city.

NEIGHBORS TO TESTIFY

Will Relate Happenings at Fortescue Home at Time of Murder.

By The Associated Press

HONOLULU, April 13—Relying upon the eyes and ears of Mrs. Granville Fortescue's neighbors for the final phase of its case, the territory set out today to complete its web of circumstantial evidence against the society woman and three men of the navy accused of lynching Joseph Kahahawai.

Three of the 11 remaining prosecution witnesses were called to tell what they saw and heard at the Fortescue home Jan. 8, the day Kahahawai was abducted and slain.

By a procession of witnesses, the prosecution yesterday carried its story from the point where the body was found to the darkened home of the accused woman, where the killing allegedly took place.

On today's list of prosecution witnesses was Mrs. Shizuko Yamamoto, who lived next door to the Fortescue home. The prosecution expected her to tell how she saw Mrs. Fortescue pull down a window shade in the rear of the Fortescue home about 9:30 a. m.

Mrs. Helen Stickney, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Anne Tarleton, next door to the Fortescue home, was called to repeat her story previously told to the prosecutor, John C. Kelley—that she heard what sounded like a muffled pistol shot.

A Japanese servant girl also was on the witness list. She previously told authorities that on the day before Kahahawai was killed, Mrs. Fortescue paid her wages and instructed her not to return until Saturday, the day after the lynching.

PROSECUTOR SEIZES TAX OFFICE RECORDS

Books of Cuyahoga County Official Impounded Under Grand Jury Subpoena.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELND, O., April 13—Closing of the county treasurer's office and stopping of tax collections was ordered late today by Prosecutor R. L. A. Leighley, who has been considering a state examiner's report that there was a deficit of $678,482 in the office last Dec. 18.

Leighley impounded all of the records of Treasurer L. G. Collister under authority of a grand jury subpoena.

His action came after State Auditor Joseph Tracy, in a letter sent to Collister today said a complete investigation of the treasurer's office cannot be made until the tax books are closed. The treasurer had offered to turn his office over to the state auditor for full explanation. Tracy, however, replied he had authority only to examine the office, not assume its control.

While it was believed a part of the discrepancies were due merely to improper bookkeeping, A. R. Peckinpaugh, special deputy state examiner, said, "We know there is an actual shortage in the treasurer's office; not just a book shortage." He was unable to say how much.

The spotlight of investigation had revealed, however, numerous illegal practices including alleged "loans" amounting to $186,366, made to political associates and others by means of holding uncashed their checks in payment for taxes. More than $76,000 of these checks were returned a few days ago because of insufficient funds.

In this group were 21 checks amounting to $46,528 given by companies in which Henry A. Beckerman, prominent local Republican politician was associated.

Undated checks for $2,604, given by Appellate Judge Manuel Levine, have been redeemed by cash, but checks for $7,254 given by Municipal Judge Joseph Sawicki are still outstanding.

Collister denies any personal connection with the $678,482 discrepancies.

Republican Rule Assailed by Speakers; Mrs. Ross Hits Prohibition.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 13—A six-point economic relief program, including abandonment of "prohibitive" tariffs and sharp reduction in the cost of government, was advanced today by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, at the Jefferson day luncheon rally of the nation's leading Democrats.

Joining Representative Rainey of Illinois, the house majority leader; Representative Mary T. Norton of New Jersey, and Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, vice chairman of the party's national committee, in a severe arraignment of Republican promises and policies, the senate's Democratic chieftain also called for:

Rigid enforcement of the anti-trust laws, use of American capital at home, a policy of non-cancellation of foreign debts and no readjustment of debts except in the interest of America, and reestablishment of higher commodities prices through orderly disposition of existing surpluses, readjustments in domestic production and other processes.

All the other speakers let loose critical darts at the administration's tariff and relief measures, but only one—Representative Norton—took a fling at prohibition.

Urging abandonment of the prohibition bureau, she said the "noble experiment" has cost the American people $370,000,000 for enforcement, not counting the revenue "which could be had from a legalized tax on beer and wine; while the cost in murders, suicides, corruption, crime and prison and insane asylum upkeep cannot be estimated."

NEW 'CONTACT' IS REPORTED

Dr. Condon Convinced He Has Connected with Actual Kidnapers.

POLICE HAVE NEW CLUE

Investigate Mystery Message Tracing Missing Child to Boat.

By The Associated Press

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 13—Dr. John F. Condon indicated today that he had renewed negotiations with the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby, to whom he has already paid a $50,000 ransom, and police disclosed they had received a "mysterious message" telling where definite information of the baby's whereabouts might be obtained.

"I'm convinced I had contact with the kidnapers and I still have contact with them," Dr. Condon, who negotiated with the criminals through a series of advertisements signed "Jafsie," said early today after a mysterious night journey.

Police Announce New Clue

A few hours later Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police, who is in general charge of police investigation, issued his usual morning bulletin and in it announced the latest clue.

"A mysterious anonymous message was received," he said, "advising that definite information of the kidnapers and the whereabouts of the child would be available on a boat on or near the property of the A. A. C. & Company of Chrome, N. J.

"Details of troopers, together with a detail of the Carteret police, searched all boats in and near the A. A. C. dock and found only six barges. Two barges had just unloaded coal and four empty barges were about to be filled with fertilizer. All other boats at neighboring docks were examined but nothing of any importance was discovered.

Col. Schwarzkopf also said in his bulletin that Harry Fleischer, Detroit purple gangster, long sought for questioning about the kidnaping, was reported to be planning to sail for England from Nova Scotia.

Watching for Fleischer

"Reports were received last night," he said, "that Fleischer was seen during the past week in St. John's and is making his way to Halifax. Authorities at St. John's and Halifax have been requested to watch for him and a careful survey of passengers leaving Halifax has also been requested."

Col. Schwarzkopf did not answer a question sent to him before he issued his bulletin asking for "a clear statement on the true condition of Mrs. Lindbergh's health." An earlier police statement had said there was "no perceptible change" in her condition. Previously denial had been made of reports that the missing baby's mother had collapsed.

Dr. Condon's trip and announcement came after he appealed once more to the kidnapers not to double cross him. In a renewal of the last of a series of newspaper advertisements signed "Jafsie," he reiterated:

"What is wrong? Have you crossed me? Please better directions."

The Condon development competed for interest with reports from London that the ransom money has turned up there, and rumors, twice scouted, but persistent here and in Trenton, that Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh is critically ill from worry.

In London the Daily Mail said Scotland Yard swung into action after learning some of the banknotes had been changed there. Detectives here began to puzzle over how they could have got there. The money was paid out about 7 p. m. April 2. The liner Scythia sailed from New York about 11 a. m. that

Instructor Finds Farming Good Vocation for Youths

Eighty-five per cent of all boys who have taken more than two years of vocational agriculture at the Waldo High school and have left school since 1927, are now farming or studying agriculture in the state university, a survey made by Levi H. Lukens, instructor of vocational agriculture at Waldo reveals.

Mr. Lukens checked carefully the careers of the boys who had attended the high school in the period since 1927, studying their school histories and their occupation since they left school

The survey shows that of the boys who took no vocational agriculture while in school, 20 per cent are now farming, 10 per cent are in school and 70 per cent are not living or working on farms. Of the 70 per cent who have gone to towns and cities, only 15 per cent can be listed as having a definite occupation, while 85 per cent have no regular occupation the report shows.

"This doesn't mean that every boy should be a farmer but for those who like farming it shows an equal, if not a superior, choice, Mr. Lukens said

"Many boys take vocational agriculture with the definite plan of returning to the home farm," he continued. "This fact is brought out when we see that every boy who took four years of vocational work is either farming or studying agriculture. Of this group that has stayed on the farm practically every boy has entered into a partnership with the father or the land owner.

"A study of these cases reveals that those who leave the farms may seem temporarily to have greater opportunities, but over a period of time those who stay on the farm have the more regular employment and more opportunities to enjoy a real life's work," he said in summing up his report

For six successive years a Canadian scientist has based accurate forecasts of winter weather in the Dominion on the conditions that prevailed in India six months before.

County Tax League Draws Plans To Launch Program

Details Are Based on Outline of Policies Adopted at Recent Meeting; Tentative Arrangements Will Be Submitted to Group May 6.

Since its program and policies drawn up for the Taxpayers Association of Marion County was adopted last Thursday night, the legislative committee of the association, headed by Dr. F. C. Smith, has been busy formulating a plan for executing the various phases of the program.

A tentative plan will be submitted to the association by the commitee May 6, Dr. Smith said.

The program itself is voluminous and touches on many phases of government.

The association is fundamentally interested in reducing taxes, and taking the necessary steps to bring this about. The tax-base group, composed of the farmer, wage earner and salaried civilian employe, who, according to the association, pay the bulk of the taxes, would benefit from the association's movement.

Resume of Program

Following are brief excerpts from the detailed program adopted by the association.

"We must begin by abolishing first those governmental offices and services which are useless and which have no legitimate excuse for existing, until we have reached a place where the cost corresponds with our ability to pay.

"The tax-paying group must get control of the powers of taxation. This is now almost entirely in the hands of the tax-beneficiary group.

"We recommend the enactment of a statute which will prohibit all government employes, excepting elective officials, from taking an active part in politics.

"One class of government employes especially need the law we here recommend. We refer to the public school teachers. Criticism is rising against the political activity of the teaching profession, today the best organized political body in the entire world.

"Something should and must be done to limit the power of our elected representatives in the making of laws. One of the most important causes for the overgrowth in government machinery is over-legislation. Also, many times the representative makes the laws 'for' the people instead of 'of' the people.

"Only an awakened conscience throughout the nation can give us hope for anything better in the way of preventing crime, one of the biggest problems facing taxpayers today. The cost of crime is constantly mounting.

Would Simplify Code

"One force which is doing so much to encourage and protect crime in America is the legal profession. It is perhaps the most potent force in protecting crime and criminals. Its activities in this direction should be limited. Also, the judiciary is too much under the control of political corruption.

"Our entire criminal code should be simplified, abbreviated and stripped of all technical verbiage which now serves as ambush for the defending lawyer. A system must be devised to dispose of all criminal cases within a short time.

"Kidnaping should be made punishable by death.

"A criminal judge should not be elected for less than 10 years, if he is elected at all.

"We recommend a policy strictly opposed to any and all unearned pensions for government employes. Old age pensions only are a heavier burden on the wage earner.

"School expenditures should be limited. One reason for the present breakdown in school finances is the useless and unnecessary courses which have been added to our school curriculum — cooking, dancing, gymnastics, so-called physical education, home economics, etc.

"We recommend the enactment of a law which will provide that all government salaries be reduced to correspond with the reduced living cost, and which would further provide that government employes shall receive salaries commensurate with salaries paid for similar work in private enterprise.

Hit School Superintendents

"We recommend the repeal of all mandatory laws which force upon local subdivisions, such as the county, the payment of stipulated fees to officials.

"County school superintendents and county school boards should be abolished.

"The teachers' pension law should be abolished.

"The present law which forces municipalities to provide pensions for certain civil service employes must be repealed.

"County dog wardens' offices should be abolished.

"The law which created county health units should be repealed. In its place, each county should be given the right to decide whether it wants a county health office.

"The abolishment of the offices and services and the repeal of the laws mentioned will yearly save the taxpayers of the state no less than $8,000,000, and the enactment of the other laws here recommended will save the taxpayers of this state not less than $25,000,000."

Other recommendations in the platform are for a complete reform of the election system, legislation to extend the term of elected officials, adoption of the county manager form of government, and legislation to provide for the compulsory teaching of taxation and school costs to the children of the public schools throughout their entire course.

WANT TO LOOK YOUNG?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c 30c, 60c.—Adv.

Candidates for nomination as county surveyor at the May 10 primary are the subjects of this article, the sixth in a series.

* * *

One of the most lively contests in the primary campaign centers around the office of county surveyor.

Six men are seeking the office, three from each party. They are Herbert R. Krebs, Henry D. Moran and C. H. Tozzer, Democrats, and C. C. Caldwell, John V. Ruth and William E. Weston, Republicans.

Herbert R. Krebs is 41, lives at 532 Pearl street, is married and is the father of one child. He is pledged to be a "public servant in service as well as in name." This is his first political venture.

Henry D. Moran is 56, lives at 155 Brenner court and is married. More efficiency, more energy and a lower tax budget for county public works are his pledges. This, also, is his first experience as a candidate.

Carl H. Tozzer, 42, of 235 Clover avenue, was a candidate for surveyor four years ago, and is a former building and sewer inspector for the city. He is married and is the father of one child. His platform is "service plus economy."

Clyde C. Caldwell, 60, of 1145 east Church street, is a deputy county surveyor. He is married and is the father of one daughter. This is his first campaign for public office. He is pledged to an "efficient and economical administration, with special favors to none and a square deal to all."

John V. Ruth, 39, of 211 Bain avenue, formerly was assistant city engineer. He is married and is the father of two children. "Efficiency, economy and courtesy to all" is his campaign pledge.

William E. Weston, 45, of 650 east Church street, is assistant engineer for the state highway department and is a former county surveyor. He is married and is the father of one child. His campaign pledge is, "If nominated and elected, my conduct in public office will be governed by the same economical principles that are practiced in private business."

JOHN A. ZACHMAN CLAIMED IN HOSPITAL

Native of Marion County Dies in Columbus After Short Illness.

John A. Zachman, 64, of 205 east Church street, died yesterday in a Columbus hospital. He had been suffering from a complication of diseases since Feb. 22.

Mr. Zachman was a native of Marion county, born Aug. 29, 1867, to Jacob Zachman, a native of Germany and Magdalena Deitsch Zachman, a native of Richland township.

He is survived by his brothers and sisters Mrs. Frank Mayer of Cherry street, Mrs. G. A. Thibaut of south State street, Jacob Zachman of Elyria and Catherine, Mary, Harry and Clarence Zachman at 205 east Church street.

Mr. Zachman was a member of Emanuel's Lutheran church.

The funeral will be conducted Thursday at 2:30 p. m. at the Schaffner-Queen funeral home on east Center street, in charge of Rev. J. W. Schillinger, pastor of Emanuel's church. Burial will be made in Marion cemetery. Friends may view the body at the funeral home.

Daily Proverb—There is some virtue in almost every vice except hypocrisy.—Hazlitt.

Better employment conditions are reported from Great Britain, France and Mexico. Let's cheer up. We may be the next in line.

Well, well! Summer's surely just around the corner. The first watermelon shipments of the year have reached the big city markets.

A sad phase of the growing length of the days is that it gives the country more time to think about its condition.

Democracy is planning a "Victory Campaign" fund of $1,500,000. We take it that there will not be any guarantee of a return of the million and a half should the political cat jump the other way.

The senate judiciary sub-committee has approved the promotion of Judge James H. Wilkerson, who gave Al. Capone an eleven-year sentence, to the federal circuit court. That's a blow to the underworld, which hoped to defeat the nomination of the judge as an evidence of its power.

The naval rebellion in Ecuador was ended when marines went out in rowboats, boarded the two warships in the possession of the rebels, overcame them without firing a shot and took the vessels into port. It is apparent that almost anything passes for a revolution in Latin-American lands.

Judge Walter B. Wanamaker, of Akron, champions the plan of boosting the prices of manufactured goods as a method of meeting the unemployment situation. Worse plans might be followed, unless the price-boosting should be carried to the extreme, as it was during the spending orgy of three years ago, the disastrous results of which are now generally appreciated.

State Prohibition Director Mathews reports that $2,000,000 worth of illicit liquors, beer and beer and liquor-making equipment were destroyed in Ohio during the six months ended March 1 of the present year. Who ever imagined that there was such a spirit of wetness in this great division of law-abiding citizens?

One night recently, federal agents working out in Illinois found a truck loaded with fourteen barrels of beer parked between two police cars in a Cicero garage. If all tales of conditions in that Chicago suburb may be accepted as true, there wasn't anything particularly novel in this juxtaposition, even though its discovery was a trifle out of the ordinary.

The net earnings of a great camera manufacturing company dropped from $20,353,788 in 1930 to $13,408,785 last year, but even with a falling-off of approximately $7,000,000 the stock earned $5.78 a share. Snap-shotting, it may be taken, yet possesses great appeal.

Roosevelt's Worst Enemy.

Governor Roosevelt, of New York, has a good many of the things a man needs to compete successfully for his party's presidential nomination, including a number of delegates. Other attributes are a responsible political position in a powerful state and the advantage of bearing one of American politics' magic family names.

But, there are important things Mr. Roosevelt doesn't have. One of them is the knack of sounding like the great man a great many people think he is. In the radio speech which he made last Thursday night, the governor of New York and the leading Democratic aspirant for the presidency made an impression slightly under second rate. He directed his speech frankly at votes, recklessly sacrificing logic and fairness to his political ambitions. He claimed to be getting to fundamentals, but measured opinion of his statements after the hurly-burly of their noise and the high-pressure setting in which they were made had died down showed them to be untenable except for the single purpose of exciting favor by prejudice.

It was not, in short, the kind of speech one expects from a presidential candidate, nor even from the governor of New York. The manner of its presentation and the defects that were found in it even in the original audition are a warning that political speeches over the radio are not without their dangers. Unless considered carefully at leisure, they very often are meaningless so far as worthy content is concerned. In the case of Franklin D. Roosevelt, it has been demonstrated, both by the original reception of his speech and the report of its valuation as presented subsequently in many representative newspapers, that, this far in the race, Roosevelt's greatest enemy is Roosevelt.

Germany's Best Guarantee.

The vote of 19,359,642 by which Paul von Hindenburg was reelected president of Germany, Sunday, exceeded the support accorded Adolf Hitler by almost 6,000,000, and was a clean majority of 2,235,794 over all competitors.

An analysis of the vote shows that the aged president was given a majority in twenty-two of the thirty-five federal election districts, while Herr Hitler, his leading opponent in both the election of March and Sunday's run-off, had a majority in but one—Pomerania—a Nazi stronghold.

Despite the fact that the total vote cast Sunday was three per cent. less than the eighty-six per cent. of the voting strength out for the March election, the president secured a vote of more than 700,000 in excess of that given him in last month's balloting, which is considered by some political analysists as more remarkable than the Hitler gain of 2,078,175 over his vote of a month ago, as the Communists, recognizing the futility of voting for their candidate, Thaelmann, switched to the Fascist, giving him the bulk of the red vote. At first glance this course of the reds may appear to have been decidedly inconsistent, as they and the Hitlerites are bitter foes. But the reds may have looked at it in another way. They may have figured that the radical government which Hitler promises was far to be preferred to a conservative government under von Hindenburg, going on the theory that half a loaf is better than none at all.

And so Paul von Hindenburg has been elected to another seven-year term as president of the German people. And what a change the years have worked in the manner in which the press of the world has received the news of his election Sunday and that it manifested at the time of his election! Then, with comparatively few exceptions, of which this newspaper is proud to say it was one, the press outside Germany was fearful that the choice of the field marshal meant the end of the republic and the restoration of the monarchy. The inclination of the press as a whole was to forget that, while he was a monarchist, he was first and above all else a German patriot, who placed above all else the welfare of the German people. Today, his election is accepted by the press throughout the world as a victory for conservative republican government. Von Hindenburg is eighty-four. He may not live out his term, but so long as he lives, such is his countrymen's feeling for him, that he will stand as Germany's best guarantee of orderly government and as a bulwark against either dictatorship or despotism.

Secretary Stimson says that the United States is ready to go the limit in disarmament. If our navy, army and marine officers are to be credited, we already have gone the limit—and then some.

The world is certainly moving backward. A big ping-pong tournament is to be pulled off in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City the 15th and 16th of this month.

"The main thing theater critics should do," according to Heywood Broun, "should be to keep the public away from bad plays." That would come mighty near keeping the public away from all of them.

Putting It Up to the Public.

Walter Damrosch, optimistic educator of public taste in music, has made a valuable contribution to discussion of crooning. "Crooners wouldn't be singing like that if it weren't a matter of bread and butter with them," he reasons. Furthermore, "radio stations wouldn't schedule all this ridiculous crooning if advertisers didn't demand it, believing the public wants it."

Thank you, Dr. Damrosch, for reminding the great unseen audience that it gets what it wants, in addition to everything else it will take. And thank you, too, for calling attention to its responsibilities in the matter of radio crooning. It has appeared, off and on, that objections to the curious noises broadcast under that classification were in danger of being called crabbedness or intolerance, but when a recognized authority on musical taste predicts crooning will destroy itself eventually in its own lachrymal oozings it is the dissenting public's cue to hasten that desirable end.

The campaign against crooners will continue with renewed vigor, thanks to you, Dr. Damrosch. And there is this consolation: Once it has been successful, once the demand for crooners has been destroyed, once the crooners have begun to sing out like men and women once more, the danger of repetition will be negligible. More economic recessions, plagues, floods, fires and revolutions may come, but not crooning again—and that's something.

Not so bad, this by Gilbert T. Hodges: "The 'fear leaders' of today were as a rule the 'cheer leaders' of 1929." Isn't it the truth?

Federal prohibition agents have begun a systematic compilation of New York's "Who's Who" in the liquor business, the squads at work being instructed to list all speakeasies, liquor-serving restaurants, cordial shops and night clubs. New Yorkers and casual visitors in the big city shouldn't suffer from thirst with a compilation like that obtainable.

The attorney general of Minnesota has ruled that elective county officials, whose salaries are fixed by law, are guilty of bribery if they voluntarily accept pay cuts for the purpose of influencing votes at later elections. Even should this ruling stand in the courts, it will in no way affect the cases of county officials who agree to refund a part of their salaries, but don't.

With the leaders of the two old parties in the lower house of congress working as one to defeat the so-called "bonus" bill, it looks as though the government will be relieved of the necessity of having to raise something like $2,225,000,000 in addition to the present problem of balancing the budget. The course taken by the leaders, it may be said, was made the easier by the fact that the veterans themselves were and are divided on the advisability of urging such legislation in a time of governmental financial extremity such as the present.

IMPULSIVE YOUTH.

Conditions in some of our outstanding institutions of learning seem to demand exhaustive investigation in certain respects. One of the peculiar and disgusting activities of the day is furnished by adolescent youths and maidens from colleges, who are invading communities in respective states in order to give commonwealths the advantages of collegiate advice and guidance with reference to the administration of law and economic, social and moral direction and procedure.

Kentucky has had her full share of this sort of invasion by amateur world-savers. Ohio has not been immune. In almost every instance there has been evident something of communistic urge back of the opera bouffe exhibitions of these institutional younglings. One is tempted to wonder how it is that they imbibe and absorb such sentiments in the respective institutions from which they come. What else do they learn?

Lately a bevy of impulsive femininity from Vassar and Wellesly colleges has visited the Capitol at Washington to protest against the execution of seven Negroes, condemned by Alabama courts for the most heinous crime that can be perpetrated against their sex!

Admittedly, they know nothing of the case except "what they read in the papers." They want congress to make Alabama behave herself. Without regard to evidence, full knowledge by the courts, the refusal of a responsible executive head to interfere with the processes of the law, these gentle maidens would have the federal majesty intervene in the interests of black, condemned ravishers, to admit them to parole, pardon or minimized terms of imprisonment!—Cincinnati Enquirer.

THE SPENDERS.

Representative Patman, of Texas, lives in Texarkana, where also resides Senator Sheppard, co-parent of the Volstead act. Mr. Patman's district includes eleven counties with a total population—1930 census—of 255,452. For the rich and joyous year, 1929, the treasury department received 1,659 individual income tax returns from Mr. Patman's district, or one for every 154 inhabitants. One rural county of New York, Tompkins, made 1733 federal income tax returns for 1929, or one for every twenty-four inhabitants. As 99½ per cent. of the population of Mr. Patman's district never stared into the cold white face of an income tax blank, his readiness to put through the billion-dollar bonuses is partly understandable.

The Democratic leader of the revolt against the sales tax was Representative Robert L. Doughton, of North Carolina. Mr. Doughton is sixty-eight years old, but has held public office only twenty-nine years. In 1928 he was returned to congress by only 1,284 plurality; Al. Smith lost the district by 12,000. In 1930 Mr. Doughton got 14,761 plurality. He was born in Laurel Springs, Alleghany county, and he lives there still. The population of Alleghany county at the last census was 7,186. Of these, in the banner year 1929, five—count them—five persons made income tax returns to the federal government. This may explain a lot to the class in political economy.—New York Sun.

THE COLONEL IS RIGHT.

Addressing a group of Toledo insurance men, Colonel Jason A. Walling, who speaks from rich experience and keen observation, says that when the next war comes along, everybody will be in it.

Of course, Colonel Walling does not mean that everybody will be in the trenches, but that everybody will be in some way endangered personally or otherwise adversely affected.

That was almost true of the World war when the United States got into it to "make the world safe for democracy." It is wholly true now. It will be true for a long time to come. Those of us who escaped death, wounds or disease are paying, and will continue to help pay, the billions borrowed to send to Europe and the other hundreds of millions which the veterans' bureau costs.

The fact that the veterans deserve all the care and cash compensation they are getting does not at all change the fact or lighten the public burden.—Toledo Blade.

Why Wait for Toothache?

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Few and startling theories about teeth and good health were presented at a recent medical and dental convention. In the history of medicine and dentistry in New York, this was the first conference of the sort. At this meeting more than 5,000 dentists and doctors met to discuss health problems.

Diseased teeth are the root of many of our bodily ailments. Diseases such as arthritis, rheumatism, neuritis, sciatica, and bronchial and lung diseases, as well as certain mental disorders, have been traced to diseased teeth.

In former years it was believed that if the teeth were kept clean they would be healthy. It is now known that to have perfect teeth the diet is just as important as the daily cleansing of the teeth.

Today too many foods are lacking in vital substances. These foods usually require little chewing and their use promotes decay of teeth. The teeth of primitive people were strong and hardy. They did not take care of their teeth, but the food they ate was course and required thorough chewing.

A diet lacking in lime and important vitamins will result in decayed and diseased teeth. It is essential that an adequate supply of lime, phosphorus and vitamins A, C and D be included in the daily diet. It is for this reason that milk is an important food. A well-balanced diet containing varied substances, with an abundance of fresh fruits, vegetables and milk, is essential to healthy teeth.

Teeth that are infected are a menace to good health. Germs at work in the teeth and neighboring structures are capable of producing infection elsewhere in the body. Infected teeth should be extracted. Often there is no pain in these cases and the diseased tooth is overlooked until serious damage to the body has resulted.

It is advisable to X-ray the teeth at periodic intervals. By this means unsuspected diseased teeth can be detected. Bear in mind that daily brushing of the teeth is important, but that this alone will not prevent infection and decay.

It has been estimated that ninety-five per cent. of the children of New York City have dental cavities and infected teeth. That percentage is high. It is serious when one realizes that if adequate measures are not taken in childhood, physical disablement in some form or other will be found in adult life.

Fortunately, the medical and dental professions now realize the relationship of diseased teeth to poor health. Great benefit is sure to be derived from the cooperation of the dentist and doctor. It is hoped that this latest campaign will decrease the number of constitutional ailments caused by defective teeth.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

S.C.F. Q.—What can be done to relieve so-called muscle strains—I call them that because the muscles in my legs seem to roll and twist? This condition seems to follow a change in the weather, or a change in the clothing, from light to heavy, or vice versa. About twenty-five years ago I had what the doctor called locomotor ataxia, but have apparently recovered from that condition.

A.—Your present trouble is probably due to neuritis; try to find the underlying cause first of all. Massage and heat should give relief. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

S.G.H. Q.—Is a liquid skin peeling lotion of benefit in clearing up such blemishes as pimples and rough skin?

A.—The condition of the skin as well as that of the hair depends upon the state of the general health. Proper diet and lots of exercise should keep the complexion clear and rosy and free from blemishes. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

Leona. Q.—Occasionally matter seems to pass over the eyeball, making the vision blurry. What would cause this trouble and what treatment would relieve it? Should the eyes be washed with a suitable solution daily? I have tried bathing them, but they feel just as bad after the treatment. I have glasses for a bad strain but only wear them when reading. How long will I have to wear them?

A.—You probably need to wear glasses steadily, at least for a time. Have your doctor advise you definitely since he is familiar with your case. Bathing the eyes with a weak solution of boracic acid should prove soothing and restful. Care should be taken to avoid further strain.

W.N. Q.—What causes my tongue to burn continually for the past six months? Have taken medicine for excessive acidity as well as for a liver condition but have not been relieved.

A.—Correct your diet, avoiding too much sugar and all rich, heavy foods, and keep the system clear. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Chattel Loans in Berlin.

BY FREDERICK KUH.

Berlin, April 13—U.P.—Depression, which would generally be expected to bring prosperity to the pawnshops, is having the opposite effect here, according to the 1931 report by the state loan bureau.

Total pawned articles have more than doubled in six years, until stocks have reached the point of saturation and, in many cases, can not bring the amounts loaned when auctioned. Last year 101,000 pieces were offered at the official loan depot alone.

The class of goods offered also reflects the hard times. Last year the loans under $12 ranging down to two marks, formed eighty-two per cent. of the business. Offerings have become so numerous that many articles such as clothing, fur coats, tuxedo and evening dress will not be accepted. While percentages are not mentioned in the report, in general, a borrower is lucky if he gets ten per cent. of the value of his security, while eight to six per cent. is not uncommon. Wrist-watches, cheap jewelry, typewriters, phonographs and even radios have become a drug on the market, while old books and even antiques find few buyers and therefore bring only a fraction of their value in loans.

An average of 425 loans per day were made at the state bureau in February. This figure is usually trebeled, however, on the two or three days preceding an auction, when borrowers bring in some additional article of value, pawn it and redeem one which otherwise would be put up at auction.

Former employes on pensions are the most numerous of the steady customers at the pawn depot, appearing in increasing numbers toward the end of the month seeking enough to tide them over until the next check.

The First Battle of Bull Run.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH

The first battle of Bull Run was fought nearly seventy-one years ago, and the few survivors of the military organizations that took part in it must be getting far up into the years. Ohio was much concerned in this unfortunate engagement of the early months of the Civil war, because the Union forces were under command of a native of Ohio—General Irvin McDowell, who was born in Columbus—the portion of it which was then Franklinton.

Because of the result of the battle, he lost standing in the army and never lived down the feeling that was engendered by that defeat in the people of the North who were stunned by it. Reid in his "Ohio in the War," does McDowell the credit of attributing the disaster to the demand that the North was making and official Washington repeating, that the federal forces get into action at once. It was still the general notion in the North that the rebellion would be a matter of only a few weeks when the two armies finally got into grips. It was Reid's opinion that the battle had good effect in that it disclosed to the North that a civil war was to be faced and not merely a revolt.

Lincoln said to McDowell, the first time he met him after the battle, that he had not lost a particle of confidence in him. Nevertheless within a week he was superseded. Both the federal and Confederate troops were green. The 29,000 that McDowell had were faced by 28,000 Confederates under Generals Beauregard and Johnston. McDowell threw the Confederates back at first, but reinforced by General Kirby Smith, the latter reformed their ranks and rushing at the Union lines, then feeling that they had won a victory, threw them back in disorder upon Washington.

It was Sunday, and many Washington officials and congressmen had driven down to see the battle. These all joined in the pell-mell rush back to Washington. The First and Second O. V. I. regiments, still organized as three-month troops, took part in this first battle of Bull Run, the Second doing good work in the battle itself and the First in covering the retreat.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. M'INTYRE

New York, April 13—Manhattan has innumerable workers, in comparatively inconspicuous posts, who make their jobs stand out like Eugene Field's fabled felon on the hired girl's finger. They express such affable efficiency they attain a certain celebrity.

There is Alice Poole, Ziegfeld's telephone operator. On the job many years, she has never lost the cordiality that makes telephone contact a joy. She is known to almost every player in the land and once she identifies a voice like the elephant of fiction, she never forgets.

Upon one occasion after a lapse of three years, I tried to trick her with a foreign accent in asking for Ziegfeld. When she got him, she intercepted casually: "Here he is Mr. McIntyre." Gallants of the town would give much to know the addresses tucked away in her capable head.

Similarly, Renee Carroll presides over the hat check room at Sardi's, a mid-town luncheon rendezvous. She never gives out checks, and has never been credited with an error. Only recently she was fictionized, as the heroine in Rian James's "Hat Check Girl."

George Baldwin, at the Palace, reverses box office procedure by remembering favorite seats of patrons he knows only by faces. Charlie Journal, night club maestro, expresses the same facility and the equally famous Theodore Szarvis is a walking Almanak de Gotha.

Vincent Lopez's valet, Elmer, is a human diary who can instantly recall the date of any dinner, the guests and the food served. A few whose names are unknown, stressing courtesy, are the girl at Brentano's information desk, and the two crossing cops at Madison avenue and Fortieth street.

Small towns rarely effuse to the stranger, yet beneath this grey taciturnity is often a more hearty welcome than the city's syrup greeting. It is shyness more than lack of courtesy, and it may take several visits to crack the veneer. But before long old-timers will be calling you "Bub."

* * *

On upper Madison avenue I stumbled upon a glorified bathroom supply shop, fancifully named "Au Bain." It caters to the luxurious lolling of the most bath-conscious city in the world. There were sponge-cushioned head rests, tinted all colors, and rubber-covered aluminum magazine racks and, most modern of all—a miniature bathroom bar.

I have often followed those blase continentals who wear them, with the fixety of a porthole in a ship and my admiration has the eye-bulging variety of the small boy for the ring champion.

But all my furtive longings are not so foppish. I never see an agile tap dancer with whom I wouldn't trade jobs—and toss in my tortoise shell handled knife with the collapsible scissors and ear-pick to boot. Also I've ached when saying goodby to hostesses to nip up to a hand-stand and waddle out, legs waving in air to a taxi. There are moments, too, when I have longed to take up flying rings in a big way.

The Thing Made Plain.

A Washington journal informs that a western senator does not read the mail from his constituency on the ground that it contains "no intelligent thought." That may be why he is senator.—Los Angeles Times.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER

Washington, April 13—Political observers in the capital are speculating as to who will be selected keynoter of the Democratic national convention by the committee on arrangements when it meets in Chicago on April 4.

Jouett Shouse, executive chairman of the national committee, has been mentioned prominently. Gossip has it that Shouse has the approval of Chairman Raskob for the job.

But within the last few days the name of a stalwart leader—Alben W. Barkley, senior senator from Kentucky—has entered the picture.

Barkley attracted attention the other day when he urged that his state forget the "favorite son" idea and go to the convention supporting Governor Roosevelt. This, it is said, caused him to grow greatly in the favor of the Roosevelt faction, and that the Roosevelt members of the national committee will support him for the post of keynoter.

Roosevelt managers seem not particularly pleased with the possibility of having Shouse deliver the keynote address. His activity in urging that uninstructed delegations be sent to the convention has not been popular with them.

Senator Barkley possesses many of those qualities that a keynoter at a political convention is supposed to have. Tall, of powerful physique, he is one of the most aggressive and energetic men in the senate. He is adept at political chiding, too. Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, the official baiter of Republicans in the senate, can always count on the Kentuckian for aid when he engages in "rawhiding" Republicans on the senate floor. Barkley comes in with short, caustic comments calculated to hit straight home.

Down in Kentucky, his friends refer to him as an "iron man," because of the amount of ground he covers and the number of speeches he delivers in one day while campaigning.

* * *

Frequently he has been chosen chairman of the state-Democratic conventions and has been a delegate to each national gathering since 1920. In 1928, he was the unanimous choice of the delegation from Kentucky for the vice presidential nomination.

He seconded the nomination of Al Smith at Houston and managed his campaign in the state of Kentucky. This designation came after he had declared on the floor of the convention that while he was opposed to Smith's view on prohibition, their common belief in democracy linked them in stronger bonds.

COHENS AND KELLYS AT PALACE THEATER

The Cohens and the Kellys with George Sidney and Charlie Murray, are appearing at the Palace in their latest vehicle, "The Cohens and Kellys at Hollywood." Although the theme is not particularly new, it is given a new slant that lifts it above the former efforts of Sidney and Murray and makes it worth seeing.

Moe Cohen and Michael Kelly, in the little town of Hillsboro, have been cronies for years. Cohen runs the motion picture theater, his wife sells tickets and his son, Maurice played by Norman Foster, plays the organ in the silent picture in ... in 1927. Kelly is a cook and proprietor of a small lunch counter where Mrs. Kelly acts as cashier and their pretty daughter Kitty played by June Clyde, is the waitress.

Maurice sends Kitty's picture into a movie concern seeking new faces and Kitty goes to Hollywood to become a great star. In response to a casual postal card from Kelly, the Cohen's sell their picture theater and leave for California where they are high hatted by the Kellys who have become rich. The advent of the talkies sees the downfall of Kitty who fails to register and the rise of Maurice who has become a theme song writer and the tables are now turned and the Cohens are rich and take advantage of the opportunity to "show" the Kellys.

Time, however, sees the passing out of the business of theme song writing and the Cohens are again ... and on the same level as the ... and the picture closes with ... families on their way back to Hillsboro and the old life.

A Mickey Mouse comedy, a pictorial and some exceptionally good pictures of the China-Japanese war are also included in the program.

C., D. & M. DROPPED FROM POWER DEAL

Marion, Mt. Gilead Companies Not To Be Bought Until Later.

An amended petition eliminating the C., D. & M. Electric Co. of Marion, the Mt. Gilead Water, Light, Heat & Power Co. of Mt. Gilead and the Morrow Public Service Co. of Mt. Gilead from the original purchase lineup of the Ohio Electric Power Co of Sidney was filed with the state utilities commission in Columbus today, according to an Associated Press story.

The Ohio Electric Power Co., in its amended petition, asked for authority to issue a total of $11,437,000 in bonds and stocks to cover the purchase of a number of electric properties throughout Ohio.

It was said that the Marion and Mt. Gilead concerns were eliminated temporarily because valuation figures were not available on them and that later the Sidney company would file another petition covering their purchase.

The company asked authority to issue $6,200,000 thirty year six per cent bonds at $90 each; 28,000 shares of six per cent preferred stock at $9; and 333,700 shares of no par common stock at $10.

The original petition covering purchase of the electric properties was filed Feb .6.

THIS GIRL NEEDS LITTLE ASSISTANCE

EL CERRITO, Cal.—(U.P.)—When her father's automobile caught fire in the basement of their home Miss Edith Paulsen, 18, picked up a large cedar chest of clothing and ran with it into the yard.

After firemen had extinguished the blaze, they offered to carry Miss Paulsen's chest back into the house.

It required three of them to lift it.

Tips on CONTRACT

OVERCALLING PREEMPTIVE BIDS

By Tom O'Neil

Preemptive original game bids are made because the hand of the bidder is of little use defensively and is highly strong in one suit.

The theory is that if partner of the original bidder has not strength enough to make the contract a success the opponents have game possibilities and will be shut out with small loss to the preemptive bidder.

Opponents with hands of great distributional strength are not deterred by preemptive bids and at times overcall them successfully. One of the accomplishments of Miss Florence Fitch of the Deschapelles club, New York, is a slam on such an overcall on which she was doubled.

Here was the hand:

NORTH (MISS FITCH)
♠ A Q 5
♥ NONE
♦ J 10 7 4 2
♣ K Q 8 3 2

(DEALER)
WEST
♠ J 8 3

♦ A Q 3
♣ 7

EAST
♠ 10 7 4 2
♥ 4 3 2
♦ K 9 8 6
♣ 6 4

SOUTH
♠ K 9 6
♥ Q 10 9 5
♦ 5
♣ A J 10 9 5

The bidding: west, four hearts north, five clubs; east, five hearts; south, six clubs; west, double; north, east and south, pass.

Miss Fitch cross-ruffed hearts and diamonds until the knave of diamonds was set up and the queen of hearts the only one of the suit left in dummy and she discarded it on the knave of diamonds. She took 12 tricks, with bonusus for slam, the doubled contract.

[illegible] haps she can arrange for you to have a room here for a night or two."

"Oh, thank you." Impulsively Kitty lifted her lips and kissed Dalton Frew's strained, lined, tired face.

She was established in the room next to Gar's. At 9 o'clock she bade Gar goodnight and went to it and to bed, at once. She slept soundly, waking to daylight filtering through the drawn shades. She dressed and went back to Gar's room where the night nurse greeted her a little tiredly, indifferently.

Miss Bixby came on duty at 8 o'clock, fresh, smiling.

"He had a fine night. He'll be out of here in no time," she assured Kitty. She brought Kitty a breakfast tray when she brought Gar's.

"You're lucky, Miss Frew. There's a girl comes to see the other fellow and she raised all sorts of a row downstairs last night because the nurse made her go at 9 o'clock. They don't think he's going to get well—he was hurt internally."

It had been Carol, of course, who'd made the row. Kitty felt a deep compassion for her and at the same moment that disquieting reluctance to admit Somerset's share in Gar's accident into her thoughts.

The day passed quietly, the doctor came and went. Gar was more comfortable, more like his old self, demanding that Kitty sit close to him most of the time.

Mr. Frew came again and sat with Gar, talking awkwardly, affectionately, for a little while. When he moved to go he beckoned to Kitty to follow him out to the hall.

"Has his mother told you, Kitty? Dr. Harrington says that Gar can be moved safely in a few days. She's arranged for a hospital bed at the home and two nurses." He did not look at her. "It'll make things easier for you, my dear, until he's up and around."

She did not utter the quick vehement protest that sprang to her lips. She was not fighting this helpless man.

But after he'd gone she leaned for a moment against the gray painted wall of the corridor. She was frightened, dismayed. The vicious circle was beginning again and she felt herself slipping helplessly into it.

Another night in the bare clean room next to Gar's, another morning, the night nurse yawning, Miss Bixby coming in fresh, smiling to take her place. Breakfast on a little table close to Gar's bed. Dr. Harrington examining his patient, joking with him, teasing Kitty for her pale face. And then alone with Gar, precious sweet moments too sweet to let in any apprehension.

"Am I better, Kit?" Gar was like a boy, wanting her assurance over the doctor's.

"Oh, much."

"Kit, if I'm better I can talk. There's something I want to get off my mind—"

She stroked his hair. "Not now, sweetheart. We'll have hours and hours to talk."

"Do you love me?"

"Oh, Gar! Yes, yes."

"Well, I don't know why you should—"

He was frowning. She had to kiss it away, quickly.

He did not ask why his mother did not come. She exulted at that even though she knew well she had soon to reckon with her. She had Gar to herself for a few days, at least.

Miss Bixby came in and touched Kitty on the shoulder. "There's some one outside who wants to speak to you."

David, Kitty thought. She must thank him for meeting her though she begrudged the moments away from Gar's. But it was Carol, waiting outside, her eyes strangely gleaming, a little smile twisting her lips.

"Kitty, I need you." She spoke quickly. She caught Kitty's arm and drew her toward the opposite door. "It won't take a minute. There's a minister in there—he's going to marry Paul and me." She felt Kitty's shocked withdrawal. "I wouldn't have it any other way!" she said, low, fiercely, tightening her hold on Kitty's arm. "Paul wants it." A curious exultation shone on her face. "Even if he dies—he's mine!"

Kitty had no argument against that. She followed Carol into the room behind the closed door. Her glance went slowly from the nurse to a tall slightly shabby man in a clergyman's robes standing near the window holding a prayer-book in his hand, to an interne, grinning over his part in this strange ceremony and last reluctantly, to the figure on the bed. But Paul Somerset's eyes did not meet hers. They were fixed on Carol. A faint smile lifted the corners of his lips. His hand moved a little and Carol took it.

"Until death do us part."

The words took on strange significance sounding here in these walls that so often house death. Kitty shivered. But in Carol's firm voice there was no faltering, no note of fear.

The nurse turned them all out a little brusquely. Out in the hall the clergyman put a book into Kitty's hand bidding her sign her name as a witness of the marriage. The interne, still grinning, signed his. Carol put a bill into the clergyman's hand, muttered a quick "thank you" and slipped back into the room. She had established her right there.

Kitty went back to Gar, shaken, troubled, close to tears.

"Do you think Paul Somerset—the other man, has any chance?" she asked Miss Bixby at her first opportunity.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Sees That Avis Is Gowned and Made Up Like a Siren.

THERE is no compliment so heady as that which a wife receives from her husband if she is still in love with him. No matter how much her common sense discounts his words her heart accepts them as truth.

My brain told me how absurd was Dicky's assertion that I was "the prettiest thing of the party," and that all the other women would "look like selling platers" beside me. As I looked around the library and halls where our guests had gathered, waiting for the appearance of our guests of honor before opening the locked doors to our transformed living room I saw what the old novelists could truly term a "galaxy of beauty" in bud and in flower. From Mother Graham, whose old face still bore traces of the great beauty which was hers in her youth, to Carolyn Brixton, youngest and flightiest of the party, a witching thing with fair hair and eyes of that rarest coloring, pure violets, there was not one "hard to look at" as Harry Underwood would put it.

A Galaxy of Beauty

Lillian and Helena Brixton though middleaged, still deserved the adjective "stunning," and Mrs. Arlen, who had not yet appeared, was decidedly attractive. In my own cross-section, Kathrine was a beauty, and Edith Fairfax more than pretty, while the young girls in our party were rare in their loveliness. Looking at Mary, with her dark, exotic beauty; at Marion, with great brown eyes lighting a winsome face crowned with chestnut curls "lighted with gold," and, at Carolyn's blonde loveliness, I could have laughed—or my common-sense could—at Dicky's absurdity; but my heart hugged his words.

"Here they are!"

It was Hank's voice from the front veranda rail, which he had been hugging ever since his arrival, with the other masculines, from The Larches.

Dicky and I went immediately to the side veranda at which the autos drew up, and as Otto held the door open for the occupants of the limousine, I had an opportunity to give what Lillian calls the "once and twice" to Mrs. Arlen, and her daughter.

They had made good use of their time in their shopping trip to the city. I decided at once. Mrs. Arlen, to whom the word "pretty" belongs, was dressed in a powder blue evening gown of lace, with a fetching jacket of the same material, the color bringing out of the effectiveness of her fair hair so cleverly retouched that a casual observer would have decided that her locks never had turned gray. She was a mistress of makeup, as was her daughter, but she was too wise to employ mascara for her eyelashes of which her daughter made such effective use.

Sizing Up Avis Arlen

As she came inside the door away from the daylight to our softly shaded lamps, she looked only half her age. Sartorially, she and her daughter were far ahead of any other woman in the room. But not even the striking, high waisted Paris gown of sheath like silver, which Avis wore with its bodice outlined with rhinestones and a rhinestone girdle caught up at one side, and with rhinestone earrings depending from the ears almost hidden by her one claim to pulchritude, her fair curls, could hide her angularity, her lack of any real claim to beauty—from feminine eyes, or from older, critical masculine ones.

But Avis Arlen cared no whit for the opinion of any person save young men, and as she came into the hall with Noel dutifully escorting her and gushed prettily over the cordial greetings which Lillian and Marion gave her, I noticed some of the "college sheiks," as Hank has dubbed all collegians, nudging each other and knew that she was sure of one "large evening," in the vocabulary of our younger crowd.

I thanked my particular little joss that my scheme of "progressive" courses would not permit her to have the first "rush" that is so often given by the collegiate "stag line" to the girl whom they select—by virtue of the last word in gown, make-up, or real beauty—as the "knockout" of the evening. That she was not an especially good dancer I knew, and I argued that by the time the dinner was over, with its opportunity for frequent dancing between courses, her inferiority, in that respect, to Marion, to Carolyn and above all to Mary, would have become apparent to the young men.

On With the Dance!

We had other young feminine guests—two friends of Marion's from school and two college girls from the harbor—all pretty girls, attractively gowned, but no one of them standing out as did Avis Arlen by means of her gown and make-up—the latter atrocious to older eyes, but patently effective for her purpose.

Mary, Marion and Carolyn were what sentimental oldsters [illegible] call "dreams" in their new f[illegible] and their differing types of beauty, but not one of them had the slinky sophistication, assumed or real, that made Avis [illegible]

After Mr. Veitzen had gone to the study off the library for a last word with the presence of the "revue" he had [illegible] me and who were waiting the summons, I nodded to Dicky and he unlocked and threw open the transformed rooms.

HIGH SPEED SHOWN BY DIVING PLANES

New Record of More Than 400 Miles an Hour Made in Britain.

By United Press

LONDON—Britain has captured another world air speed record, 407½ miles an hour in vertical dives from 20,000 and 25,000 feet.

This record recently has been attained by a number of British single-seater fighting planes of the Royal Air force during trials to test the structural strength and streamlining of the machines.

Although diving speed is not included in recognized performacne tests, the ability of a military airplane to withstand the stresses imposed at "terminal velocity" without structural failure is of first importance.

So far, three different types of single-seater machines have reached these tremendous velocities and tests are being carried out with other machines. Among the successul types is the Fairey "Firefly," a large number of which were recently ordered by the Belgian government.

The maximum speed of the machines in level flight at 215-220 miles an hour. The British fighters have dived at nearly double their top level speeds without showing a sign of stress.

NOT THERE, BUT ANSWERS PHONE

New Device Used by Texan To Serve During Absence.

By International News Service

SAN ANGELO, Tex.—"This is R. P. Phillips speaking. I am sorry I cannot answer the telephone, but I am out of town on a business trip and will not be back until late today."

San Angelo residents are not surprised on receiving a reply similar to the above when they telephone R. P. Phillips, oil man. Although it is Phillips' voice that comes back over the wires, the oil man really is out of town on a business trip.

Before leaving his office, Phillips leaves a message to all callers with his "ansophone" (short for "answer telephone") and no matter how many times his telephone may ring during his absence, the "ansophone" responds to the call and delivers Phillips' message.

The small device, invented by J. L. Collins of Dallas, is a combination recording and reproducing device. The owner merely speaks his message into a tube, very much as though he were using a dictaphone, and it is recorded. When the telephone rings, the device automatically answers and delivers the message.

SPEAKER PRAISES AMERICAN POETS

By International News Service

PARIS—American poetry came in for high praise in a lecture here by Professor C. Cestre, of the Sorbonne, at the Comite France-Amerique headquarters.

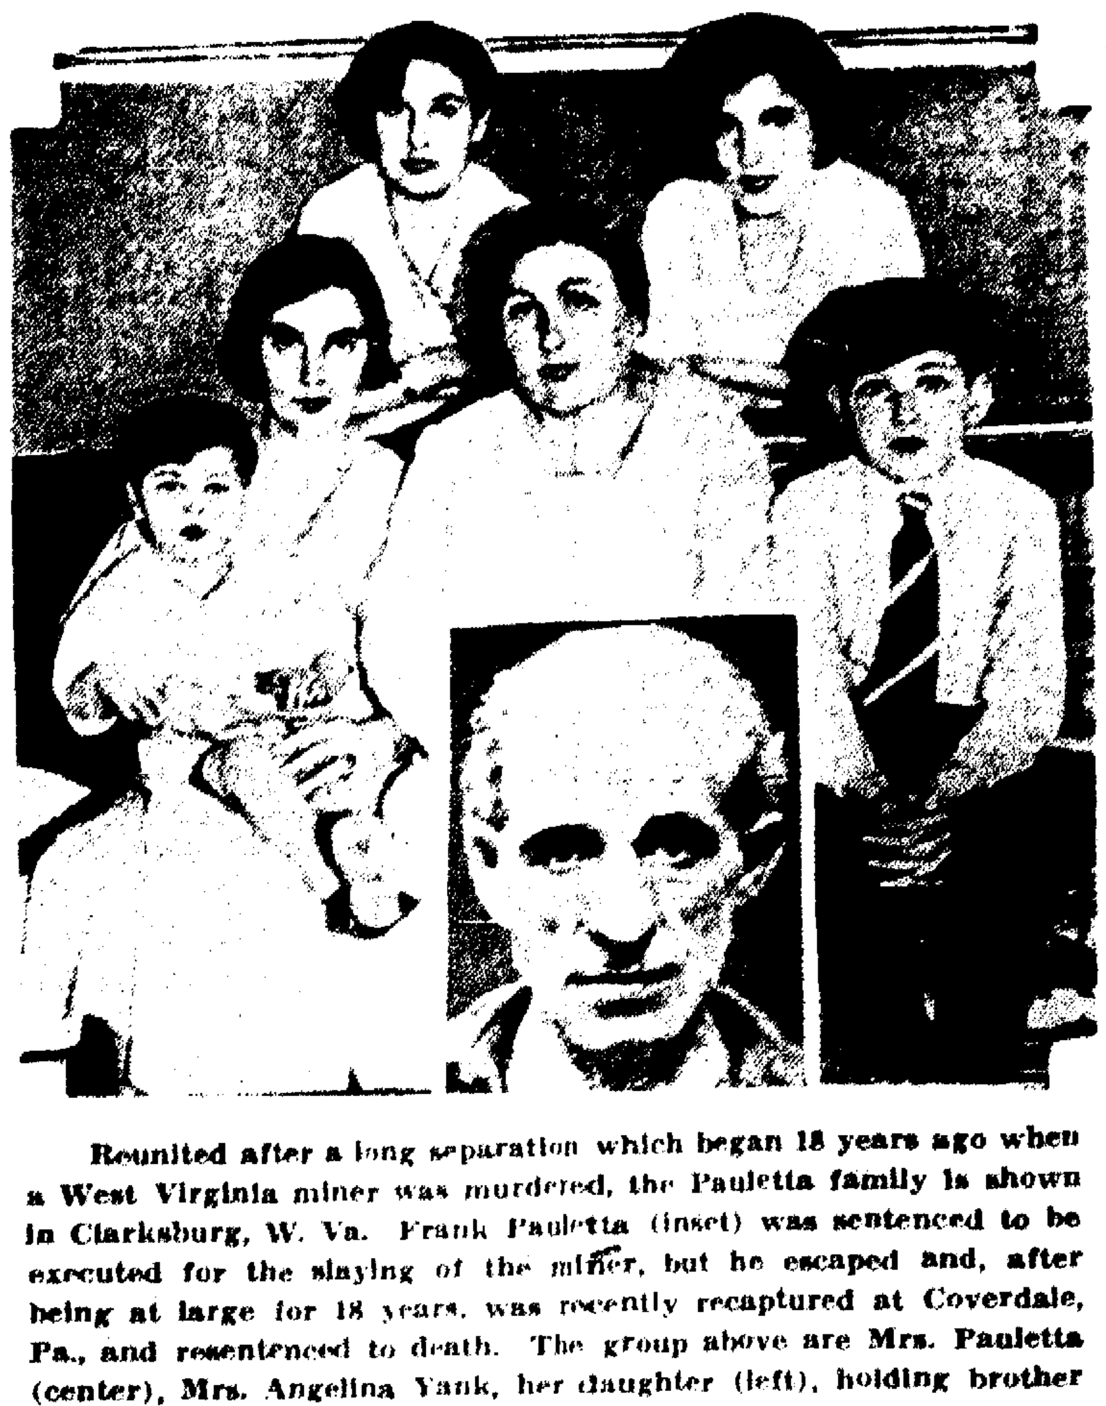
"The greatest of American poets is undoubtedly Edward Arlington Robinson," said the French professor, "very modern in giving much importance to intellectuality, but at the same time showing warmth of spirit and richness of form, a master of the sonnet."

He also named Robert Frost as another great American poet, together with Carl Sandburg, Vachel Lindsay, Sara Teasdale and Edna St. Vincent Millay.

Monsieur Cestre attended a great meeting of the Poetry Society of America at a New York hotel a few years ago. He says there were 800 persons present, all of them poets, but perhaps not all great poets.

A small Berlin theater has been given reversible seats so that their occupants can face a moving picture screen at one end of the building or a lecture platform at the other.

APPEAL FOR DOOMED FATHER



Reunited after a long separation which began 18 years ago when a West Virginia miner was murdered, the Pauletta family is shown in Clarksburg, W. Va. Frank Pauletta (inset) was sentenced to be executed for the slaying of the miner, but he escaped and, after being at large for 18 years, was recently recaptured at Coverdale, Pa., and resentenced to death. The group above are Mrs. Pauletta (center), Mrs. Angelina Yank, her daughter (left), holding brother Frank, 2; John, 12, is at right. In the rear are Helen and Catherine. They are appealing to the West Virginia governor for clemency.

Alumni Play Given.

UPPER SANDUSKY, April 13—A play, "The Nut Farm," was presented last night by alumni of the high school. The following took part: Edwin Clark, Miss Dorothy Border, Raymond Hehr, Miss Helen Cook, Mrs. Charles W. Bringman, Allen Witzel, Robert Krebs, Gail Caldwell, Robert Harman and Miss Harriet Stalter. The play was directed by Miss Mildred Hall.

Welfare Work Triples.

BUCYRUS, April 13—Relief work in Bucyrus during the last month has tripled that of the same period in 1931, according to a report given by Mrs. P. B. Holmes, secretary of the Central Welfare association at the organization's meeting Monday night. Calls number 255 as compared with 87 made in March, 1931.

SUES FOR DIVORCE

BUCYRUS, April 13—Cruelty and gross neglect are charged in a divorce petition filed in common pleas court today by Frances Check against Armon Check. Mrs. Check also asked custody of two children. Attorney J. D. Sears filed the bill

BARON SINGS FOR JOBLESS DINERS

SAN FRANCISCO—(INS)—Veterans' Kitchen is not a high class eating place here, and the veterans who patronize it do not have linen napkins, finger bowls and demitasses.

But their appetites are whetted by the singing of an Italian baron.

Every day Baron Signor Giovandomenicue de Simone, known to the veterans as G. D. Simon, sings to the jobless as they dine.

The baron, so he says, recently turned down a contract to sing and act in the pictures so that he might be on hand to sing in the opera to open the municipal opera house here.

"The baron in overalls" he says is his title.

To Plan Relief Work.

MT. GILEAD, April 13—Township trustees and clerks from the 16 townships in Morrow county will gather here for a meeting Tuesday, April 19, for the discussion of the procedure in handling gas tax funds and work relief in connection with the gas tax funds.

Rockets that land close to points at which they are aimed after rising 3,000 feet in the air have been invented by a Bohemian, who plans to construct larger ones to carry mail.

RULER OF CICERO

Elected on a platform promise to make the town safe for beer drinkers, Joseph G. Cerny, new president of Cicero, Ill., a suburb of Chicago, has started out to make the former stronghold of Al Capone a law-abiding community. Declaring that if the people want good beer they shall have it, Cerny points out that there are 175 places in Cicero where it can be obtained. However, hoodlums are to be driven from the town and racketeering suppressed with a firm hand.

Historic Silver Bricks.

By International News Service

CHICAGO — Field Museum of Natural History possesses two bricks of silver which are historically as well as intrinsically valuable. One was made in 1878 by the first water-jacket furnace at Leadville, Colo., and the other was made from ore brought from some of the first silver mines operated in Montana. The specimens were presented to the museum by William J. Chalmers of Chicago.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, April 14

A DAY of difficult and disappointing situations is predicted from the dominant place of Saturn and the adverse solar position. The latter may seriously affect or hamper the smooth progress of employment, bringing friction or unhappy disagreements with those in authority. There may be postponements, impediments or sorrows in all matters, personal as well as business. The best advice is to refrain from new ventures and willingly postpone where possible.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of difficult progress, with prospects of disappointments, delays, adversities and sorrows. Safeguard the employment, try to be amiable with superiors and undertake only what is necessary, thus working along lines of least resistance and sidestepping regrets. A child born on this day should be given careful education, enabling it to surmount possible difficulties with patience, perseverance and determination as well as with amiability and optimism.

Here's One of the Reasons Why Business Has Been So Good at Schaffner's Lately!

Here's what must have happened in a lot of Marion homes during the last few weeks. We have sold more new furniture since the middle of March than we have in any equal period in the last two years. Here's the reason. Folks can't resist throwing out their old furniture when they see the prices in our NEW ECONOMY BASEMENT. They know it's dependable furniture, too. Even during the furniture sales we have had our largest business. Folks shopped around and found our Every day prices lower than sale prices. All we ask is for you to believe what you see, and you'll be kicking out some things that have worn out their welcome.

Babe Ruth Steals the Show as Majors Open Campaigns

COLONELS, INDIANS CAPTURE OPENERS IN ASSOCIATION DRIVE

St. Paul and Minneapolis Are Victims; Wintry Blasts Stop Two Games.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 13—The first offensive along the American Association baseball front has resulted in [illegible] play knockouts for eastern [illegible] and the infractious elements.

As snowy, wintry blasts stepped in to halt the Milwaukee-Toledo, Kansas City-Columbus inaugurals yesterday, Louisville and Indianapolis dashed off to a running start in the long flag chase by capturing a pair of mid-season thrillers from the twin city entries, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Both the victories were gained by one run and both saw the winners come back like champions in the closing stages of the struggles to snatch victory. Indianapolis [illegible] triumph in the twelfth inning with two out, 4 to 3, and Louisville trimming the defending champions, 5 to 4.

For inaugurals and considering the chilly blasts that swept the playing fields, both games were well played with the pitchers holding better than their own.

YANK STAR CLOUTS TWO CIRCUIT BLOWS

Snow and Cold Hamper Inaugurals, but 117,000 Flock to Six Ball Parks.

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

For these many years Babe Ruth has been doing the unexpected, clouting home runs or striking out in his own inimitable fashion, but never before has he so completely dominated the major leagues' "opening day" ceremonies.

There was excellent pitching by Ed Brandt of the Boston Braves, Sam Jones of the Chicago White Sox and Flint Rhem of the World champion St. Louis Cardinals as the National and American leagues opened the drive that leads to the 1932 pennants yesterday; there was a rousing ninth-inning rally by the re-built Cincinnati Reds and a striking demonstration of batting power by the long-suffering Phillies, but over and above all these was the Babe's spectacular seasonal debut at Philadelphia.

The king-pin of the New York Yankees' devastating attack clouted two home runs and a single against big George Earnshaw and Jimmy Deshong of the Philadelphia Athletics and thus contributed five runs to the common cause.

A shivering crowd of 18,000 saw little to cheer about as the Yankees made 12 hits good for as many runs and beat the A's 12-6.

Ruth, who never before had hit two runs in an opening day game, needed some assistance and got it from Sammy Byrd and Lou Gehrig. Among them this trio clouted nine hits and accounted for 11 runs.

The only other American league game the weather man permitted saw the Chicago White Sox pin a 9-2 beating on the St. Louis Browns. Sam Jones held the Browns to eight hits and won without trouble in back of a 13-hit assault by the Sox.

Cards Win Easily

Over in the National league, the champion Cardinals turned in an easy victory. Their two chief rivals, the New York Giants and Chicago Cubs were beaten.

Flint Rhem, who pitched the Cardinals to victory in the pennant-winning years of 1926-28-30-31, held the Pittsburgh Pirates to seven hits and won 10-2.

The Giants fell victim to the effective pitching of "Fidgety Phil" Collins and a terrific hitting drive by the Phillies. Burt Shotton's men pounded Bill Walker out of the box and piled up a total of 17 hits.

Brooklyn's revamped ball club looked good afield but the Dodgers' hitters folded up against the air-tight pitching of Ed Brandt and the Boston Braves won 8-3.

Bad weather cut down the aggregate attendance for six games to about 117,000.

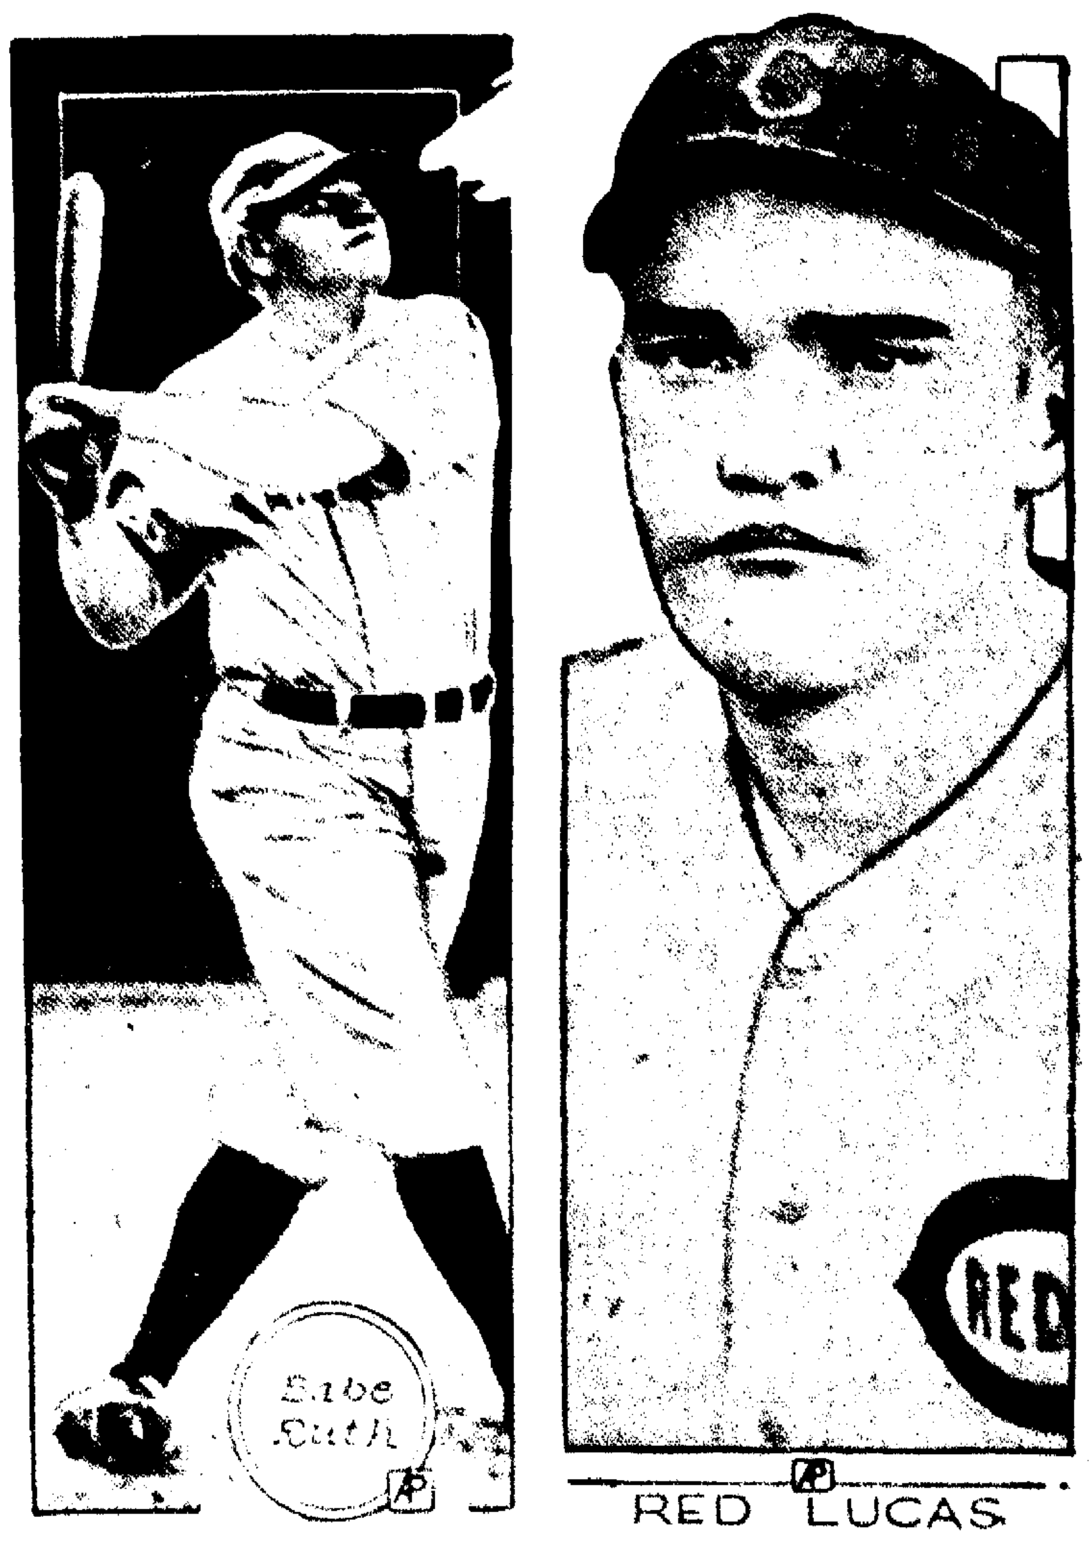
Teams Asked To See Shaw at Y for Practice Diamonds.

Recreation baseball teams wishing to practice on any of the city park grounds are asked to make arrangements for a specific time with Elmer Shaw, secretary of the city softball commission. This will prevent conflicts owing to more than one team planning on using a certain diamond at the same time.

This does not apply to the Steam Shovel company diamonds inasmuch as they are controlled by the Shovel company.

According to a British metal expert much of the noise of big cities can be reduced if bell makers will add a little more tin to the alloy they use, producing softer tones.

THEY'RE OFF WITH A BANG!



Babe Ruth may be slowing up as many fans think but he is still able to step up and wallop the horsehide out of the park when the occasion calls for it. He proved that yesterday when he smashed out two homers against Philadelphia in the American league opener in the Quaker city.

Red Lucas, listed as a pitcher on the Cincinnati Red roster of the National league, couldn't sit by and see his team mates drop the opener to Chicago so he strode to the plate in the ninth frame, rapped out a two-bagger and started his club on a four-run spree that beat the Bruins, 5-4. Who said pitchers can't hit!

Baptists Will Depend on Same Lineup for '32 Race

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

This is the third of a series of stories concerning the prospects of the various city softball teams. Others will appear in later issues.

* * *

Trinity Baptist Sunday school will depend on practically the same lineup as last season in its efforts to annex the championship of the No. 1 Sunday school softball circuit this summer. With a new manager at the wheel, the Baptist lineup may be rather thoroughly juggled in an effort to discover the strongest possible combination but new faces will be about as familiar as molars in a chicken's mouth.

Stewart Jones will pilot the Baptists and as yet he has not "signed" up any new array of talent. The Baptists finished the campaign last season in third place and will more than likely bank on the same boys to carry them to another position of high standing in the circuit.

Has Good Pitchers

Jones will be blessed with a good pair of mound artists in "Hap" Applegett and Starling Somerlot and either of these boys can be shifted to the outfield when the other is pitching without injuring the team's strength. Applegett may be slow rounding into condition this season as the result of a recent automobile accident but it is pretty safe to say he will be ready for heavy duty within a short time after the race gets under way.

Behind the bat Jones will have either Don Anderson or Gerald Roberts with the inside track going to the latter.

The Trinity infield is one of the best with Bob Merchant on first, Watt Merchant at second, Harry Staley at short and Homer Little at third. Little is reaching that age where ball players commence to slow up but he can still play with most of the younger bloods and at the plate he plays havoc with opposing teams. Bob Merchant bids fair to be the best first sacker in the city this season and Harry Staley's ability at the short field is not questioned. Watt Merchant rounds out the infield, one of the most capable inner defenses in the league.

Outfield Is Average

The outfield is not the strongest in the circuit but is nevertheless dependable. Somerlot or Applegett will patrol left field, depending on who is pitching. The other two posts will be filled by a pair of the following: Gail Doan, "Doc" Wainfor, Gerald Roberts and John Merchant.

The reserve strength of the team is not above the average. Jones will have to depend on his regulars to do most of the playing and should any of these slip the club is likely to find itself skidding into a lower post than it occupied last season. The prospect of finishing third or better this season appears remote. On paper Trinity appears likely to battle for a place in the first division, inasmuch as several other clubs are likely to be considerably stronger than last season.

Next team: Epworth Bishops.

Umpire Says, So "Goose" Goslin Can't Use Camouflaged Bludgeon.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 13—"Goose" Goslin's camouflaged bat was a prisoner of war today.

The black striped willow club, designed by Secretary Willis Johnson of the St. Louis Browns and enthusiastically endorsed by Goslin in the belief that it can puzzle pitchers and infielders, was banned yesterday by Umpire Harry Geisel, when the Brown outfielder attempted to use it in the first inning of the White Sox game.

Goslin insisted he had a right to use it, but lost the argument. So he picked up another bat and revenged himself by hammering out two doubles and one single.

LOU MOORE GETTING MOUNT IN TRIM FOR MEMORIAL DAY SPEED CLASSIC

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. — Lou Moore, who makes automobile racing look easy by the debonair manner in which he slips into turns at 120 miles an hour, is the first of the pilots to arrive at the Indianapolis speedway for the 500-mile drive May 30.

The Californian is done with last minute preparation, he says, and wants to be ready for the time trials in plenty of time this year. He came a year ago and loafed almost until race day before accepting a pilot's job. The result was that the car was not as ready as he would have liked it.

Impressed by Schneider

And another thing superstition—had something to do with Moore's leaving the dirt tracks of California so early. He recalled that Louie Schneider, a local driver, began preparing for the race last March and won it comfortably. There may be something in this "early bird" stuff, Moore says.

Moore will drive the same eight cylinder car he started last year and which went out in the 262nd mile because of a broken rear axle and clutch trouble. He averaged 103.725 miles an hour.

Never Gets Flustered

The freckled Californian makes driving look easy. He sits up straight and does not "fight the wheel" in taking the hairpin turns. He has the steady nerves to take things as they come.

His best performance here was in 1928, when he finished second to Louis Meyer, also a Californian. Meyer piloted the winning car 500 miles at an average of 99.482 miles an hour, with Moore just behind at 99.241. This year the minimum speed is 100 miles an hour.

REDS BREAK LOOSE IN OPENER, BEATING CUBS IN NINTH, 5-4

Lucas Leads Rousing Four-Run Spree as Bruins Are Thumped.

Coming from behind in the ninth inning, the rejuvenated Cincinnati Redlegs smashed out four runs to turn back the Chicago Cubs, 5-4, in the opening game of the season at Cincinnati.

Charley Root held the Reds almost helpless for eight innings of the inaugural clash and then weakened in the final frame. Grantham singled to start the Red rally and Heath walked. Root left the game at this point as a hot liner from Lombardi's bat injured his hand. Bush replaced him and Lucas, pinch hitting from Morrison cracked out a double, driving in two markers. Roettger, batting for Benton was walked. Douthit singled, scoring Durocher and Bluege, substitute runners, with the winning tallies.

STOP MILK SUPPLY IN SCHOOLS TODAY

Lack of Funds Causes Nutrition Committee To Discontinue Project.

All milk supplies in the Marion schools stopped today. Because of lack of funds, the Red Cross nutrition committee of the Community fund, at a meeting yesterday afternoon at the Red Cross headquarters, was compelled to notify the schools that all milk supplies would be discontinued, beginning today.

The stopping of milk to schools will not effect the baby feeding which the committee has carried on this winter, the women said today. Last month, the milk given 545 school children cost the committee approximately $265.

Yesterday afternoon also marked the closing of the cooking classes at the Y. M. C. A., sponsored by the committee. Lack of funds with which to buy wheat and other supplies for the classes, forced the closing of the classes.

Fifty women from needy homes of Marion were at the class yesterday which Mrs. A. H. Crane instructed. At the close of the period one of the women gave Mrs. Crane a note, which read as follows: "As one of many that attend your school of cooking, I wish to express and extend my most sincere congratulations to you for inexpensive recipes that cost so little to make and yet they are very delicious.

"I hope that each and every individual that has attended the school has profited by it as I have. The whole wheat bread recipes certainly are fine and so easily made, also inexpensive. A school such as this one is a help to each and every individual regardless of whether he is poor or wealthy."

For the last 18 weeks cooking classes have been held at the Y, directed by one of Marion's nutritionists, and previous to the Y classes, cooking schools were conducted at several of the schools.

Budgeting, planning nourishing but inexpensive menus and ways of using whole wheat were stressed in the classes.

Mt. Gilead Teachers Take Action To Prevent Early Closing of Schools.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, April 13—The action of the 20 teachers of the Mt. The action of the finance and teachers committees in recommending a term of only eight and one-half months was due to the fact that tax receipts have fallen off to such an extent that all expenses of the regular term could not be met.

Most of the leaders however, failed to go more than fractionally under yesterday's close.

The improved tone in the market was evidently in response to reports that the governors of the federal reserve banks meeting in Washington yesterday had agreed upon a program of more aggressive credit expansion. An immediate reflection appeared in the money market, where rates on bankers acceptances were cut ⅛ of one per cent to 1¼ per cent bid for the short maturities. This rate was so far under the rediscount rate of 3 per cent that a reduction within the next week or so appeared highly probable. While no figures were revealed as to the amount of credit which the reserve system had decided to put into the market, one report in banking circles was to the effect that open market purchases of U. S. governments would be expanded from the current rate of around $25,000,000 a week to $75,000,000 a week.

WHEAT PRICES GET SETBACK

Laggard Action of Liverpool Quotations Has Bad Effect at Chicago.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 13—Influenced by laggard action of Liverpool quotations, wheat prices here underwent an early setback today. Despite the continued bullish crop news regarding domestic winter wheat and spring crop seeding delays, new speculative buying lacked snap. Opening ⅛-⅝ down, Chicago wheat futures declined further afterward. Corn started unchanged to ¼ up, and subsequently held near the initial limits.

Forecasts suggesting likelihood of moisture soon in various sections of drouth territory, Kansas and Nebraska in particular gave some advantage to wheat bears. Crop reports said that from Salina, Kan., to Amarillo, Tex., the condition of wheat was only 20 to 35 per cent of a 10-year average.

For the time being, however, the wheat market presented an overbought appearance. The fact that prices here had scored a gain of almost eight cents in the last few days emphasized that advances had been unusually rapid and that foreigners were not following. It was pointed out that despite recent decreases the visible supply of United States wheat in North America was now 14,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago, owing to much increased quantities of farm board wheat in Canadian elevators notably at Montreal. Corn and oats sympathized with wheat weakness.

Provisions reflected downturns of cereals.

OLD BANK VAULT NOW RESTAURANT

Unusual Eating Place Opened in Prominent N. Y. Location.

NEW YORK—(U. P.)—Following the current mode for more "atmosphere" in Broadway restaurants, a new eating place has opened in the $125,000 safe deposite vaults of a former Chase National bank branch.

Situated in a basement on West 42nd street, interiorally decorated like a corner of the house of parliament, it is entered through a glistening circular steel doorway reaching from the floor to the ceiling. The 10 ton steel vault door, now swung back, is three feet thick, and bristles with gadgets which fit into the doorway. Its glass enclosed center is a maze of clocks, knobs, and timing machinery.

The former emergency exit, a miniature of the entrance door, now conceals a ventilation fan keeping the waiters, robed like convicts, as cool as any permanent resident of Sing Sing.

High up on the walls are imitation barred cell windows and the ceiling, of six inch steel, has been darkened by the simple expedient of "smoking it" with lighted candles.

The room is known as "Guy Fawkes' Cell." Gunpowder barrels on the floor and dripping candles on tables complete the picture. "Greetings, Prisoner," is the menu's salutation to the innocent diner, who picks up "Today's Prison Fare," signed by Warden D. A. Reese.

Customers sit around the walls formerly occupied by safe deposit boxes to ponder on the stacks of thousand dollar bills and gold pieces once stored here; away from public gaze. William Childs, restaurant man, is responsible for the new use of empty bank vaults.
